"In the search for professional excellence, there is so much more beyond a teaching field or an educational specialization that a community college educator must know, understand, and believe in . . . The Great Teachers' Seminar provides an opportunity for faculty to live and share for an extended period of time with peers representing a wide range of specialties, talents, experiences and interests."

The Seminar

The Prairie Region Great Teachers Seminar is a three-day, intensive seminar that provides an opportunity to learn about and reflect on the challenges faced by educators in post-secondary institutions. The format, which is purposely unstructured, evolves from an ongoing assessment of participants' needs.

Participants will learn from each other through discussion and exploration of teaching strategies, innovations, problems and solutions. The theme underlying all seminar activities is the perpetual challenge to identify the characteristics of the Great Teacher.

The seminar is not limited to the already great; rather it is designed to attract those who are striving to be great educators. Post-secondary faculty from all levels are encouraged to take advantage of this unique professional development opportunity.

The Purpose

- To analyze instructional problems and to find realistic, creative approaches to their solution.
- To enable educators to venture beyond the limits of their own specializations and environments in search of the universals of teaching.
- To stimulate the exchange of information and ideas among and within post-secondary institutions by building communications networks among faculty.
- To promote introspection and self-appraisal by providing a supportive environment in which participants may seriously reflect on their attitudes, methods, and behaviour as teachers.
- To celebrate good teaching.

The Staff

David Gottshall, who founded the original Great Teachers Seminars over 30 years ago, will direct the National Great Teachers Seminar in Riding Mountain National Park, assisted by highly skilled educators and facilitators drawn from across North America.
